

SWIVEL SECURE LIMITED - CLOUD SOFTWARE SERVICE END USER LICENSE AGREEMENT (“EULA”)

BETWEEN SWIVEL SECURE LIMITED (English company number 04068905) (“Supplier”) and the person or entity (“Customer”) which has contracted to purchase a subscription for a Service Offering (as defined below) from Supplier or a reseller appointed by Supplier (“Reseller”).

ACTIVATION OF CLOUD SOFTWARE. Supplier or the Reseller shall provide Customer with an activation key or registration following Supplier’s acceptance of the Customer’s order for the cloud software service, the maintenance and support services provided by Supplier in respect of the cloud software service and the associated documentation (collectively, “Service Offering”).

LICENSE. Supplier grants Customer a personal, non-exclusive license to access and use the Service Offering subject to the terms and conditions set out in this EULA.

Customer agrees:

- (i) to use the Service Offering solely for its own internal business purposes and in accordance with the usage level for each activation key or registration;
- (ii) not to subvert or attempt to disable the activation key or registration (and any such action shall be conclusively presumed a material breach of this EULA);
- (iii) not to reverse engineer, disassemble, reverse translate, decompile, or in any other manner decode the Service Offering, in order to derive the source code form or for any other reason (and any such action shall be conclusively presumed a material breach of this EULA);
- (iv) not to make any modifications, enhancements, adaptations, or translations to or of the Service

Offering, except as may result from those Customer interactions with the Service Offering associated with normal use and either explained in the associated documentation or as determined by Supplier;

- (v) to pay the license and other fees invoiced by the Supplier and/or Reseller. Where license fees are calculated based on Customer’s access of the Service Offering, Supplier alone shall determine the level of access, such as the number of Customer’s users accessing the Service Offering, from access reports run in connection with the Customer and, if necessary, from Supplier’s own enquiries and investigations. In the absence of manifest errors Supplier’s determination shall be final;
- (vi) that the right to use the Service Offering may be restricted by a measure of access based upon number of users and any expansion beyond the specified access level shall require payment to Supplier or a Reseller of an incremental charge or another license fee at Supplier’s prevailing applicable price, following which payment Supplier or Reseller shall provide Customer with an activation key or registration for the additional users;
- (vii) not to assign, subcontract, sub-license, lease, rent, loan, distribute, sell or otherwise transfer the Service Offering or any rights acquired under this EULA to any third party except as expressly permitted hereunder;
- (viii) not to use the Service Offering for the purpose of providing cloud or managed services, or for commercial purposes to provide services to third parties;

- (ix) to adhere to all laws, rules and regulations applicable to Customer's use of the Service Offering;
- (x) to be responsible for all activities that occur under Customer's account, regardless of whether the activities are undertaken by Customer, Customer's employees or a third party (including Customer's contractors or agents) and, except to the extent caused by Supplier's breach of this EULA, Supplier and Supplier's affiliates are not responsible for unauthorised access to Customer's account;
- (xi) to contact Supplier immediately if Customer believes an unauthorised third party may be using Customer's account or if Customer's account information is lost or stolen; and
- (xii) to provide information or other materials related to Customer's use of the Service Offering as reasonably requested by Supplier to verify Customer's compliance with this EULA.

Customer will be deemed to have taken any action that it permits, assists or facilitates in respect of any action taken by any third party in relation to this EULA or use of the Service Offering.

CHANGES. Supplier may change, discontinue, or deprecate any part of the Service Offering (including the Service Offering as a whole) or change or remove features or functionality of the Service Offering from time to time. Supplier will notify Customer of any material change to or discontinuation of the Service Offering by either (i) notifying Customer in writing, including, without limitation, by email or (ii) providing written details at Customer's online login page for the Service Offering, with the changes or discontinuation becoming effective on the date indicated in the written notice or at Customer's online login page, as applicable.

Supplier may modify this EULA at any time by either, (i) updating the EULA and sending the updated version to Customer, including, without limitation, by email or (ii) uploading any change, update or other modification online at Customer's online login page for the Service Offering from time to time and the modified terms will become effective as soon as they are made available to view at such page. Any changes during the term shall not affect Customer's obligations under this EULA or the applicable order and Customer will not be entitled to any refund, credit or other compensation due to any such changes.

Customer acknowledges that features of the Service Offering may incorporate or interoperate with third parties' software and/or services (each being a "Third Party Service") and depend on the continuing availability of each Third Party Service for use with the Service Offering. Furthermore, the use of the Service Offering may depend on the acceptance of separate terms and conditions applicable to the use of Third Party Services which the relevant third parties may change with or without notice in their absolute discretion. Supplier may update, change or modify the Service Offering as a result of a change in, or unavailability of, Third Party Services as described above. If any third party ceases to make its Third Party Service available on reasonable terms for the Service Offering, as determined by Supplier in its sole discretion, Supplier may cease providing access to the Service Offering without any liability to Customer. Any changes to Third Party Services, including their availability or unavailability, during the term does not affect Customer's obligations under this EULA or the applicable order, and Customer will not be entitled to any refund, credit or other compensation due to any such changes.

MAINTENANCE. Supplier shall have no obligation to provide any maintenance or support for the Service Offering except such maintenance and support which Supplier provides under the terms of its then current Cloud Service Maintenance and Support Agreement. Supplier may modify its Cloud Service Maintenance and Support Agreement at any time by either, (i) updating the Cloud Service Maintenance and Support Agreement and sending the updated version to

Customer, including, without limitation, by email or (ii) uploading any change, update or other modification online at Customer's online login page for the Service Offering from time to time and the modified terms will become effective as soon as they are made available to view at such page.

Customer may choose to obtain additional maintenance, support and other services from the Reseller but Supplier shall not be responsible or liable to Customer in any way in connection with the provision or receipt of those services, including where any action or omission by the Reseller causes the Supplier to be unable to comply with its obligations under this EULA.

If Customer is subscribing to the Service Offering as a replacement for an alternative authentication solution provided by Supplier (for example, but without limitation, a perpetual Supplier software license) and Customer purchased maintenance and support in relation to that alternative solution, Customer shall not be entitled to any credit in respect of the unutilised portion of such purchased maintenance and support.

OWNERSHIP. Customer is granted no title or ownership rights, in whole or in part, in or to the Service Offering and/or any modification, update, upgrade, new version or maintenance release provided by Supplier as part of any maintenance and support services ("M&S Releases") and Customer acknowledges and agrees that title to all Intellectual Property Rights in and to the Service Offering and all M&S Releases are and shall remain the property of Supplier and/or Supplier's suppliers. All grants of rights to use intellectual property intended to be accomplished by this EULA are explicitly stated. No other grants of such rights shall be inferred or shall arise by implication. Customer shall affix to each copy of the Service Offering made by it a reproduction of the copyright notices, trade-marks, and all other proprietary legends and/or logos of Supplier and/or Supplier's suppliers, appearing on the original copy of such Service Offering delivered to Customer and retain the same without alteration on all original copies.

"Intellectual Property Rights", for the purpose of this EULA, shall mean all industrial and intellectual property rights of Supplier arising in connection with the Service Offering including without limitation, the rights of Supplier in patents, trade and service marks (whether registered or unregistered), domain names, inventions (whether or not capable of protection by registration), know-how, registered designs, unregistered design rights, copyrights, databases, applications for any of the foregoing together with the right to make such applications and copyright in all manufacturing data, drawings, specifications, manuals, instructions, plans, designs, topographies, websites and computer programs together with all information of a confidential nature and all rights under any agreement between Supplier and any third party in relation to the use of any of the above in any jurisdiction.

CONFIDENTIALITY. The Service Offering may contain trade secrets and confidential information of Supplier and/or its suppliers including the specific design, structure and logic of individual Service Offering programs, their interactions with other service offerings, both internal and external, and the programming techniques employed therein. Except as explicitly permitted by this EULA, Customer shall not allow anyone other than Customer's employees on a "need to know" basis to have physical access to the Service Offering.

Customer shall:

- (i) keep the Service Offering confidential for the benefit of Supplier and Supplier's suppliers using no less a degree of care than it uses to protect its own most confidential and valuable information; and
- (ii) issue instructions to each of its authorized employees to whom the Service Offering is disclosed, advising them of the confidential nature of the Service Offering, provide them with a summary of the requirements of this EULA and shall cause them to comply with this EULA.

SUSPENSION. Supplier may suspend Customer's right to access or use any portion or all of the Service Offering immediately upon notice to Customer if Supplier determines that:

- (i) Customer's use of or registration for the Service Offering (a) poses a security risk to the Service Offering or any third party, (b) may adversely impact the Service Offering or the systems of any other customer of Supplier or Reseller, (c) may subject Supplier, its affiliates, or any third party to any liability, or (d) may be fraudulent; or
- (ii) Customer has ceased to operate in the ordinary course of business, made an assignment for the benefit of creditors or similar disposition of Customer's assets, or has become the subject of any bankruptcy, reorganisation, liquidation, dissolution or similar proceeding; or
- (iii) Customer is in breach of this EULA; or
- (iv) Customer is in default under its payment obligations to Supplier or Reseller in respect of the Service Offering.

EFFECT OF SUSPENSION. If Supplier suspends Customer's right to access or use any portion or all of the Service Offering:

- (i) Customer remains responsible for all fees and charges that it has incurred through the date of suspension; and
- (ii) Customer remains responsible for any applicable fees and charges for the Service Offering to which it continues to have access and fees and charges for in-process tasks completed after the date of suspension.

Supplier's right to suspend Customer's right to access or use the Service Offering is in addition to Supplier's right to terminate this EULA pursuant to this EULA.

TERM. Access to and use of the Service Offering shall be provided for the period of time defined in the relevant purchase order document, unless earlier suspended or terminated in accordance with this EULA or the purchase order.

TERMINATION.

Supplier may immediately terminate this EULA by written notice to Customer if:

- (i) Customer commits a material breach of this EULA which is not capable of remedy;
- (ii) Customer commits a material breach of this EULA which is capable of remedy and Customer fails to remedy such breach within 10 business days of receipt of written notice from Supplier requiring it to remedy such breach;
- (iii) Customer's performance under this Agreement results in material reputational harm to Supplier;
- (iv) in the reasonable opinion of Supplier, Customer behaves in a manner which is likely to bring Supplier into disrepute or otherwise to compromise or adversely affect the reputation and standing of Supplier or the Service Offering.
- (v) any act or omission by Customer results in a suspension described in this EULA;
- (vi) Supplier's relationship with a third party partner who provides software or other technology Supplier uses to provide the Service Offering expires, terminates or requires Supplier to change the way it provides the Service Offering;
- (vii) Supplier believes that providing the Service Offering could create a substantial economic or technical burden or material security risk for Supplier;

- (viii) termination is required in order to comply with the laws or requests of government entities; or
- (ix) Supplier determines that use of the Service Offering by Customer or Supplier's provision of the Service Offering to Customer has become impractical or unfeasible for any legal or regulatory reason.

EFFECT OF TERMINATION. Immediately upon termination of this EULA for any reason, Customer shall have no further right to use the Service Offering and shall, at Supplier's option, either destroy or deliver to Supplier, at Customer's expense, the originals and all full and partial copies of documentation associated with the Service Offering in the possession or under the control of Customer. Customer shall certify to Supplier that it has carried out any destruction required by Supplier. Supplier reserves the right to take such action as it considers reasonably necessary to prevent the use of the Service Offering following the termination of this EULA and Customer irrevocably and unconditionally consents to the taking of such action by Supplier.

The provisions of the paragraphs labelled Ownership, Confidentiality, Indemnification, Limitation of Liabilities, Use of Name and Choice of Law and others which by their nature are intended to survive together with any interpretative provisions and reporting requirements needed to interpret this EULA and/or Customer's use of the Service Offering shall survive any termination of this EULA. Any termination of this EULA shall be without prejudice to any accrued rights of either party and any other rights and remedies that either party may have at law or in equity.

WARRANTIES

- (i) Supplier warrants that it has the right to enter into this EULA and to grant to Customer a license to use the Service Offering as contemplated by this EULA.
- (ii) Supplier warrants that the Service Offering will conform in all material respects to the specification contained in the associated documentation for the Service Offering for a period of 5 business days from the date on which Customer first accesses the Service Offering (the "Warranty Period");

- (iii) If, within the Warranty Period, Customer notifies Supplier of any material noncompliance of the Service Offering with its associated documentation, in consequence of which there is a failure to conform to any of the warranties in (ii) above, Supplier shall, at Supplier's sole determination, as the sole available remedy, do one of the following within 21 days of receipt of Customer's notification:

- (A) repair the Service Offering; or
- (B) provided that Supplier has used all reasonable efforts to repair the Service Offering, terminate this EULA in respect to the affected components of the Service Offering and at Supplier's sole determination, refund, (or procure the refund to) Customer a proportion of the fees paid by Customer that reflects the period of time during which and the extent to which Customer was unable to use the affected components of the Service Offering.

In the absence of a manifest error, the Supplier's determination under this clause shall be final.

INDEMNIFICATION. Customer will defend, indemnify, and hold harmless Supplier, its affiliates and licensors, and each of their respective employees, officers, directors, and representatives from and against any claims, damages, losses, liabilities, costs and expenses (including attorneys' fees) arising out of or relating to any claim concerning: (a) Customer's use of the Service Offering (including any activities under Customer's account and use by Customer's employees and personnel) and (b) breach of this EULA or violation of applicable law by Customer. If Supplier or its affiliates are obligated to respond to a legal order or process described above, Customer will also reimburse Supplier for legal fees, as well as Supplier's employees' and contractors' time and materials spent responding to the legal order or process at Supplier's then-current hourly rates.

Supplier will promptly notify Customer of any claim subject to the above paragraph, but Supplier's failure to promptly notify Customer will only affect its obligations under the above clause to the extent that Supplier's failure prejudices Customer's ability to defend the claim. Customer may: (a) use counsel of its own choosing (subject to Supplier's written consent) to defend against any claim; and (b) settle the claim as Customer deems appropriate, provided that Customer obtains Supplier's prior written consent before entering into any settlement.
